1.	URL address (Uniform Resource Locator address)	the address of a file on the internet
2.	http:// (Hypertext Transfer Protocol)	The method by which web pages are transferred from a website to your PC; http appears at the beginning of web addresses and means hypertext transfer protocol.
3.	www	world wide web
4.	ftp:// (File Transfer Protocol)	A standard for transferring files from one computer to another over a network.
5.	Hypertext	text that contains links to other documents
6.	Hyperlink	a text, image or button that, when clicked, takes you to other destinations on the Web
7.	wikis	open-source, editable web pages
8.	e-tailer	the same as electronic retailer, or online store
9.	videoblog	a blog that includes video
10.	Skype	a program that allows you to make voice and video calls from a computer
11.	podcast	an audio broadcast distributed over the Internet
12.	e-commerce	the buying and selling of products on the Internet
13.	e-card	a digital greeting card
14.	e-learning	instruction via computers
15.	e-zine	an electronic magazine
16.	e-signature	the electronic equivalent of a hand-written signature

17. e-cash	money available as an electronic account, used in internet commerce
18. e-book	the electronic counterpart of a printed book
19. e-pal	a friend you write email to
20. cybercafe	a place where you can use computers with internet access for a fee; also called and internet cafe
21. cybercrime	crimes perpetrated over the Net
22. cyberculture	culture emerging from the use of ICT systems
23. cyberslacker	an employee who uses his company's internet connection during working hours to chat with friends, play games, etc.
24. cyberspace	refers to the virtual world of computers and the Internet
25. flat-rate	at a fixed price